

In March, the TIC tip of the month addressed how Habit 1 (Be Proactive) aligns with the TIC initiative. The TIC tip for April is based on Habit 2 – Begin with the end in mind.

The FCS mission statement is “Educating and empowering for life”; therefore, that is the “end” that we must keep in mind for ALL of our students, including students who have experienced trauma. The FCS strategic plan is based on this goal so that our mission is more than a dream. Empowering students (listening to what they have to say and providing choices) is an important TIC concept. In all that we do, and every interaction, each of us must reflect on how our beliefs and behaviors support the achievement of the district’s guiding principles related to TIC:

FCS will provide safe educational facilities that foster positive learning environments.

FCS will create learning environments in which all students, staff and families will feel physically and emotionally safe, valued and engaged.

Thank you for beginning with the end in mind! Your efforts are making a difference in the lives of our students! Keep this in mind... use a TIC lens to reflect on daily practices. What can you do today to make sure every student feels physically and emotionally safe, valued and engaged?
